

When chocolate fish are flying...

When chocolate fish are flying
Travelling to the moon
When rabbits howl and toadstools sing
You know Magic's coming soon.

Lucy and her brother
A strong young man called Jack
Woke and sat up in their beds
Then pulled the curtains back.

The moon looked in and winked at them
The stars were eating toast
The wind lay down and went to sleep
The sun sat on a post.

The river started laughing
The trees had told a joke
Jack and Lucy smiled at them
And then the hedgehog spoke

"Soon it's time for you to sleep
Snuggled under dreams
Safe and warm and soft and sweet
For that's what Magic Means.
